

BLUEPARROTT + ZEBRA:

A Powerful Pairing for Integrated Communications

In high-noise environments, reliable communications are critical to productivity and safety, not to mention profitability. Together, BlueParrott and Zebra products pair easily to empower mobile-connected workers with clear, reliable communications.

THE CHALLENGE

It's hard for workers to stay productive when things get loud. Your customers may find that voice communications become frustrating, distracting, and ineffective in high-noise environments. Concentration on tasks can be impaired, draining productivity and increasing costs.

THE SOLUTION

Pair the power of Zebra mobile computers with BlueParrott Bluetooth headsets for a winning combination. With Zebra mobile devices and Workforce Connect, your customers get one device that provides access to enterprise data and applications, plus PTT calls, PBX calls, and enterprise-class secure messaging. And with a BlueParrott solution, you combat excessive-noise environments by eliminating noise distractions, making communications even more effective.

Whether the industry is transportation, field services, warehousing, or retail, integrating noise-cancelling headsets with mobile devices can make work more efficient and communications clearer, no matter where the call is conducted.
